Howard Hughes to Establish Stewart Cargo Port

By HUGH REYNOLDS

NEWBURGH

Billionaire Industrialist Howard Hughes will establish a world-wide air cargo operation at Stewart Field, The Freeman learned today through reliable sources at Kennedy International Airport.

The vehicle will be Alanica Airlines, the Nicaraguan national airline. Hughes has been spotted on several occasions during the past year in Managua, Nicaragua, meeting with Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza. Somoza is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, not far from Stewart Field.

According to an official at The Airport News, a publication which covers activities at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark Airports, and now Stewart Airport, Hughes now owns a one-third interest in Alanica Airlines and 55 per cent of its sales division.

"That's what Howard's up to alright," a spokesman from the Airport News told The Freeman. "Howard would like to expand that airline. He wants to build another TWA." (Hughes was forced to sell his interests in Trans World Airlines several years ago by the federal government).

The source was asked if Hughes planned to establish the eastern terminal for his world cargo operation at Stewart. "Not the eastern terminal, the world-wide terminal. He'll be flying cargo in there from Europe, Latin America and Asia. They can use the great circle route (over the North Pole) for their Asian flights."

Special

Asked what type of planes Alanica would be flying into Stewart, the source said, "Knowing Howard, he'll probably work with Lockheed and that means the C-5A, the biggest."

Hughes and Nicaraguan government officials are not the only persons interested in Stewart as a major cargo port; "other airlines are also interested in it. They are setting up right now," the source told The Freeman.

The Airport News published an article as long ago as April of last year, predicting a wholesale move of employees from the Kennedy air cargo operation to the Newburgh area to service Stewart. "The air cargo situation at Kennedy is a monstrosity and it's growing worse every day," the source said. "There's something like 20,000 people working in air cargo alone at Kennedy. When air cargo operations are established at Stewart you can expect jobs for at least 40,000 people, maybe 50,000. It's going to be big, really big."

Just when all this is going to take place is still in question. The Metropolitan Transportation Authority, which owns Stewart Airport and is developing it, had planned to begin construction work on a 4,000 foot extension of existing runways this past February. However, work has been held up by environmental study requirements. According to The Freeman's source at Kennedy International, Hughes was planning to start up his operation in January of next year.

Cargo would be flown into Stewart and shipped out to all points in the United States via air, freight, truck and possibly the Hudson River. The MTA is planning a high speed rail hookup to New York City.

Meanwhile, opposition in the Newburgh area remains strong both in the private sector, mainly from environmentalists, and in the public sector from officials who claim the MTA has consistently refused to divulge the full scope of its plans.

Japanese Prepared to Offer $1.1 Billion Purchase

Nixon, Tanaka to Discuss Trade Imbalance

HONOLULU (UPI) — President Nixon and Japanese Premier Kakuei Tanaka open summit talks today with the Japanese prepared to offer a $1.1-billion purchase to ease the trade gap, which has strained relations with the United States.

White House sources said that Tanaka was ready to agree to a multi-million dollar purchase of wide-bodied aircraft—including air buses, helicopters for rescue operations—as well as enriched uranium, forestry and agriculture products.

The agreement was worked out between Kiyohiko Tsurumi, deputy vice foreign minister of foreign affairs for Japan, and U.S. Ambassador Robert Ingersoll, the sources said.

The emergency purchase package would be effective by April 1, 1973 and would cut into the multi-billion-dollar U.S. trade deficit.

The trade imbalance has been the cause of growing friction between the two countries. Nixon warned in advance of two days of meetings with Tanaka that failure to improve the situation would cause a clamor on the part of American protectionists to impose quotas and restrictions upon Japanese exports.

Nixon and Tanaka were scheduled to meet at the new, plush Kullima Hotel after both leaders kept the morning free for their own official business.

The trade concessions were expected to be outlined in a joint statement issued at the conclusion of the summit talks on Friday.

While trade was the main topic on the minds of Americans, Nixon also made it clear that he intended to be informed of Japan's recent overtures toward China and the prospect that the Japanese will soon establish diplomatic relations with the Communist mainland.

Both the Japanese leader and Nixon were expected to take each other's measure at the first meeting of an American President with a Japanese Prime Minister in Hawaii.

They arrived in the island state only a few hours apart Wednesday night.

Nixon said he hoped the two-day summit would "build a structure of peace in the Pacific." The Japanese leader said he wanted the sessions to "mark the beginning of a new era of constant dialogue between our two countries."

Tanaka, making his first venture in summit diplomacy since assuming office July 5, told the 500 persons gathered in a flag-bedecked hangar at Hickam Air Force Base: "Today we are living in an increasing multipolarized world where Japan has come to assume greater responsibilities in the international community commensurate with her increased national strength."

Speaking in Japanese, he added he hoped the meeting with the President would strengthen "the already sound foundation of friendship and mutual trust between Japan and the United States and to promote even more wide-ranging cooperative relations in the coming years."

Nixon then went to the Kullima Hotel where he was staying with his party while Tanaka traveled to the Surf Rider Hotel. They will open their talks at 7 p.m. EDT.

Before the meeting Nixon will meet with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker for what the White House described as a routine review of the situation in Vietnam.

Upon his arrival, with an umbrella held over his head, Nixon said the purpose of the meeting was to build "a structure of peace in the Pacific because without peace and cooperation and friendship between the people of Japan and the people of the United States there cannot be peace in the Pacific and there cannot be peace in the world."

Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger told newsmen en route here that "special measures" would be adopted during the conference to counter the trade imbalance between the United States and Japan. He said Nixon and Tanaka would discuss the immediate problems of a trade deficit which has risen to $4.3 billion a year and solutions to longer range problems.

Caucus May Decide Fate of UCCC Budget

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Although the Ulster County Legislature meets tonight to take action on the Community College $3.5 million budget, the fate of that budget is uncertain and probably depends largely on the outcome of a legislative caucus to be held prior to the 7:30 meeting in the County Office Building.

The County Legislature is not legally required to pass the UCCC budget tonight, although if it does not, the county will be forced to dip into its contingency funds to pay the college's bills until a budget is approved. The county, also, may approve the budget tonight without a settlement with the teachers, and then add the necessary monies later when a contract is signed.

State Teachers' group holds New Paltz session. Story, picture on page 17.

Feelings of anger on the part of the many legislators have been expressed during the past few days since the president of the UCCC Faculty Association, Allen Duane, made a bitter denunciation Tuesday of the Legislature and its negotiating team.

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) took exception to the timing of the Faculty Association's press release denouncing the legislature. He said he first received the report of the factfinder at 12:15 p.m. Monday and that no member of the Legislature or negotiating team had copies.

"The next morning," Savago said, "the Faculty Association was denouncing the legislature before members of the county board had opportunity to see the report or form opinion concerning it."

"The Faculty Association is doing nothing to enhance the settlement," Savago said.

Duane charged Tuesday that the county has already made plans to impose a legislative settlement on the teachers, a contention called by Savago as premature.

"We are not saying this will lead to a strike," Duane told the Freeman, "but it sure as hell will lead to trouble."

Presently the county has three alternatives: it may accept the finding of a factfinder, it may reject the factfinder's report, or decline further negotiations and impose a settlement.

Savago also indicated that if a settlement is not reached by Thursday, provisions will be made in the budget to add extra money once a contract with the teachers is signed.

The board met a week ago for the purpose of voting on the budget but the matter was deferred pending a satisfactory conclusion to the negotiations between the Community College negotiating team and the Faculty Association.

Last week's postponement of action on the budget was the second time the proposal has been tabled. Following a public hearing and meeting in July, the budget was put over for 30 days due to an impasse in negotiations.

The largest portion of the total budget was earmarked for instruction with $1,613,197 given as the figure in copies of a budget summary given the news media July 28 and Aug. 24 by the county publicity office.

It is anticipated that that figure will change pending the outcome of the negotiations.

Equipment for New Hall

$50,000 Suit Filed Against City

KINGSTON

The City of Kingston has been served with a $50,000 lawsuit in connection with the purchase of equipment in the new city hall by Tri-County Business Machines Inc. of 630 Broadway.

The city, through its corporation counsel, Aaron E. Klein, has refused delivery of some $21,000 worth of filing cabinets from Tri-County, claiming the firm did not bid the equipment under state contract as required by the city. Some $6,000 worth of equipment from Tri-County was delivered to the new city hall on Meadow Street in March and has been ordered removed by Klein. The remainder of the equipment is now enroute to Kingston from manufacturers.

Items be under State Contract before delivery and acceptance of items intended to be so purchased. An investigation was made by this office in cooperation with the city clerk and we have learned to our satisfaction that his supplier (Tri-County) did not intend to deliver under state contract. Accordingly, I made known to attorney for Tri-County, said equipment was to be purchased that Tri-County bid on a set under state contract. Spada said of specifications drawn up by that in fact several items in the city and was awarded the the specifications were not contract. Spada said that there available under state contract, was no written notice, either in the claim. Spada said, besides city or in the letters of ac the cost of the equipment, also ceptance from the mayor and includes damages for business from the Building and Supply loss, business reputation and Committee of the Common "serious ramifications in the Council, mentioning that the structure of the business,"

Freed After 31 Hours in Car

NEW YORK (UPI)—For 31 hours, with the body of the driver lying a few inches from him, Kenneth Thomas lay trapped in a wrecked car while an estimated 150,000 vehicles streamed by a few feet away on one of the nation's busiest highways.

Thirsty and suffering from the heat and humidity intensified by the twisted metal all around him, Thomas alternately prayed and moaned for help. Finally, late Wednesday morning, pedestrian Russell Vanveise of New York heard the faint moans coming from the wrecked car hidden by tall weeds in a gully near the interchange of the Cross Island and Southern State Parkways, a main commuter route from Long Island into New York City.

He called police and they used blow torches to free Thomas, 43, of Massapequa, N.Y.

Thomas was treated at Franklin General Hospital and released.

At first, Thomas said in a telephone interview, Buckley was conscious for "about 15 or 20 minutes." He had tried to crawl through a smashed window, but failed.

"He said he thought his jaw was broken and that he was having difficulty breathing," Thomas said.

Thomas tried massaging his friend's heart, but Buckley slipped into unconsciousness and died.

Then, Thomas started shouting. The unremitting rumble of the traffic (an estimated at 150,000 vehicles passed through a toll station a mile away) drowned out his shouts. They grew fainter and fainter. Thomas took to praying.

"I said the Act of Contrition, the rosary and Our Father over and over," he said.

At times, he despaired of ever being found, but kept trying to shout despite his growing hoarseness.

While he grew weaker, his relatives searched for him. His wife "tried all the hospitals and checked at work but nobody knew anything," he said.

At one point, his sister and brother-in-law retraced the route he took home from work. They passed within a few feet of him.

Helicopter on Historic Mission

The new is used to recreate the old as a helicopter assists in reconstruction of the French Church on historic Huguenot Street, New Paltz. The whirlybird was used to place cupola on the church as workmen secure it to the high point of the building. The church is a rebuilding of the original French church which was constructed in 1717. On nearly the same site as the original, the church is being rebuilt under the auspices of the Crispell Family Association in the Flemish style of the first church. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Grateful Dead . . . Concerts Cancelled

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Two mid-September concerts of the rock music group The Grateful Dead have been cancelled because of insufficient security personnel for crowd control, the Saratoga Performing Arts Center said Wednesday.

A SPAC spokesman said the cancellation of the Sept. 15 and 16 concerts followed meetings between the management of SPAC, the rock group, and local law enforcement officials.

The spokesman said that while the band's draw had presented no unusual burden on public agencies in other cities, it could possibly create security needs beyond the capability of the local law enforcement agency.

Kenneth E. King, public safety commissioner for this resort community of 20,000, estimated the band would attract up to 25,000 fans each day.

Last summer no major incidents occurred when more than 30,000 fans crowded into SPAC to attend a concert by another rock band—The Who. Police arrested a few for minor offenses and less than 10 persons were treated for minor injuries and drug overdoses at local hospitals.

The Grateful Dead may appear during the regular special-events season next summer when a larger security force would be on hand, according to the present scheduling plan endorsed by city officials.

During the July and August special-events season the number of state, local and SPAC security personnel are at their peak.

Flood Recovery Efforts . . . Priority

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — In an apparent jab at Democratic critics, the Rockefeller administration pledged today to give "highest priority" to flood recovery efforts in the state.

Governor Rockefeller's office released an eight-page summary of actions by numerous state and local agencies, ranging from rescuing 300 persons by helicopter to providing emergency toilets to making the $275,000 "crash study" of the flood impact on property tax revenues.

The document issued by acting Gov. Malcolm Wilson, was presented as a report from the Office of Planning Services to the governor's office.

However, the detailed list also serves as a rebuttal to Assembly Democratic Leader Stanley Steingut, who has called at least three times for a special legislative session to expedite flood relief.

The Republican leaders have replied that a special session would be a "meaningless gesture" until the scope of federal action is determined.

Presenting the report, Wilson called the response to the June disaster as "a demonstration of truly cooperative effort among all levels of government and the citizens they serve."

"All of us in state government will continue to make this effort, working with local citizens and with federal and local government one of highest priority," he said.

Among the achievements cited by various state departments were:

- rescuing 300 persons by helicopter and 50 families by truck;

—using National Guardsmen and inmates from the Auburn and Elmira prisons to build dikes;

—flying 984 passengers and 641,000 tons of cargo around the state in helicopters;

—providing 843 trucks and other vehicles, and dispensing 39 generators, 50 pumps, 20 pieces of construction equipment and more than 100 radios;

—delivering 1.3 million pounds of emergency foodstuffs, from as far away as Georgia;

—approving 14,000 unemployment claims, and providing temporary jobs for 1,500 persons as of Aug. 14;

—the Urban Development Corp. securing 2,162 mobile processing to home sites as emergency housing, with the goal of having re-placements under construction "by next spring";

—having the UDC aid rebuilding efforts in Painted Post, Elmira, South Corning, Riverside and the town of Erwin;

—dispensing $1 million in free food stamps and another $1 million for clothing, furniture, home repairs and maintenance.

More specific accomplishments ranged from cutting up 22 tons of stranded beef at the Elmira prison to borrowing secretaries

Council to Give Contracts' Authority

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON The Common Council is expected to give Mayor Francis R. Koenig the authority to sign contracts with the federal government for the construction of the $189,000 Phase II of the Rondout Neighborhood Center. Tuesday night when the aldermen meet in regular session.

Koenig received the contract documents in the mail from the Department of Housing and Urban Development last week. The federal grant is for $126,400 with the city responsible for the remaining $63,000. It will bring the total cost of the building at Broadway and Spring Street to almost $480,000. Phase II includes the construction of a gymnasium on top of Phase I with supporting facilities, locker rooms, storage areas and a library room. Koenig did not set a construction date on Phase II but a spring, 1973 start is likely assuming bids come in under the $189,000 budget.

Also on tap will be a request from the Department of Public Works for the purchase of four new snowplows. The Finance, Ways and Means Committee of the Council met Wednesday night and reviewed bid proposals from Clark Municipal Equipment Company of Rensselaer and Syracuse Truck Sales of Germantown. The Clark firm bid 138,435 on a Walters Truck Model ZCQ which comes equipped with either manual or automatic transmission and $147,447 on a Model ECG with automatic transmission. Syracuse bid $145,520 on an Oshkosh Truck with manual transmission. Committee Chairman John E. Finch (D-Fifth Ward), said that the committee would probably go along with the suggestions of the BPW to buy the Oshkosh Truck. "We want some equipment, that's for sure," Finch said. "It'll definitely come out, which way I don't know. We're inclined to go along with the suggestions of the board."

The Finance Committee also reviewed a proposal from the Laws and Rules Committee, headed by Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) to purchase three buildings on Central Broadway for demolition and construction of parking lots. The Sussin Building, the Cuneo Building and the Beck Building, according to Quick can be purchased for a total of $41,000. (The city owns the Cuneo Building, Sussin's would cost $23,000 and Beck's would cost $18,000).

Quick has now included another $28,000 for estimated demolition costs, bringing the requested bond issue to $69,000. The aldermen also are expected to take up the subject of the historic designation of the old city hall, at 408 Broadway. Kingston Hospital wants the property for expansion purposes, the Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission wants to preserve the building as an historic site.

The aldermen will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers in what could be the last meeting of the city government in the old city hall. Plans call for the relocation to the new city hall in Broadway East in the middle of September.

DOT Slates 'Penn Dates'

KINGSTON The New York State Department of Transportation has officially established dates for public hearings slated in late September to determine the fate of a Penn Central Railroad freight agency reorganization plan that would make Kingston one of 18 field terminals in the state.

DOT officials will conduct public hearings on Tuesday, September 26, and Wednesday, September 27, in the State Office Building in Albany and on Thursday, September 28, in the DOT building at 199 Church Street, New York City. All meetings begin at 10 a. m. Other meetings will be held in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Buffalo, Boston, and New York City.

The Kingston freight office would be one of 11 in the state to be open for toll-free calls from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. At all other times the telephone would be connected to the FACT terminal in New York City, which would serve freight customers at all times when the Kingston office was not manned.

On-the-spot freight agent service would be eliminated in 32 stations served by the Kingston office, including area stations in Rosendale, New Paltz, Gardiner, Walkkill, West Hurley, Phoenicia, Fleischmanns, Newburgh, Roseton, Marlboro, Catskill, Saugerties, Port Ewen, and Highland.

A railroad spokesman at the company's Philadelphia headquarters said there would be no layoffs of freight agents in these and other local freight stations, some of which are now served on a part-time basis.

"Agents will be removed by attrition only," he said. "The jobs will be eliminated as agents retire, die, or transfer to other jobs."

Presidential Campaign Money-Handling

GOP, Dems Continue Accusations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican charges of "devious cover-ups" have drawn Democratic claims of "nitpicking" in the latest round of accusations over presidential campaign money-handling under a new law.

While Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern's campaign has "attempted to hold its candidate out to the public as above reproach, his organization has in fact resorted to devious cover-ups in various fund raising activities," GOP National Chairman Robert J. Dole said Wednesday.

Dole called for a probe by the General Accounting Office, which the audit agency said is already under way. "I believe there is substantial evidence that the McGovern campaign apparatus has committed at least seven serious violations of the new political finance law," Dole said in a letter to GAO.

A GAO official said, "We plan to give this the same type of treatment we gave the Republicans."

Frank Mankiewicz, McGovern's national political director, told reporters that GAO already had begun a "routine" audit of McGovern finances before Dole asked for it. For Dole "to accuse the McGovern campaign of the kind of violations that are talked about in this letter," Mankiewicz said, "is somewhat like a man caught on the street after a bank robbery with the cash in a sack calling in the police to arrest a jaywalker he sees crossing the street. I don't think anybody is fooled by this."

McGovern to Break Labor Day Tradition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen.

George S. McGovern has decided against opening his campaign in Detroit on Labor Day, breaking a tradition of Democratic presidential candidates including John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

McGovern will turn instead to the Southern Governors Conference.

He will address the governors Sunday at Hilton Head, S.C., and spend much of Labor Day traveling between rallies in Barboursville and Chippewa Lake, Ohio, and Alameda, Calif.

There had been speculation in Detroit that McGovern would not appear in Cadillac Square for a rally with rank-and-file workers.

Observers noted that McGovern had run poorly in the May 15 Democratic primary (27 per cent to 51 per cent for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace) and that he had been reluctant to discuss busing, the which has not registered with the federal elections office. Mankiewicz said there is such a group, it did contribute $10,000, "and so far as I know it has not registered."

But, Mankiewicz said, there is "some doubt in the law as to whether foreign committees were required to file. We'll clarify that up, and that committee will file very shortly."

On other matters, Dole said there are reports that some McGovern supporters bought tickets at prices of at least $2,000 for a Madison Square Garden rally, but the purchasers have not been individually identified.

Dole said the press reported Stewart Mott of New York contributed $377,500 to McGovern's campaign, but public disclosures report $38,000 in contributions and $160,000 in loans.

Mankiewicz said the latest report was June 28. "and I am confident the report was accurate. He has made other contributions since and they will be fully reported when we make our next filing."

Mankiewicz also said that since the GAO found possible violations by President Nixon's campaign fund handlers, "it is not surprising that Sen. Dole would come up with six or seven suppositions and nit-picking charges with respect to the McGovern campaign."

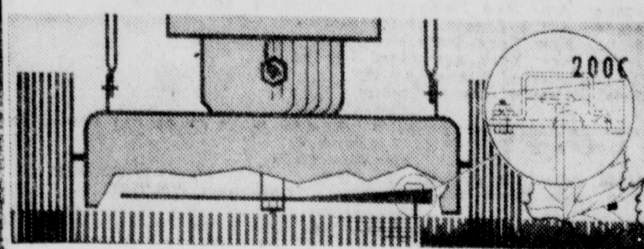

GAO had said the GOP campaign organization failed to make required public disclosures involving about $350,000. Dole said violations by the McGovern people "could amount to several hundred thousand dollars in non-reported and improperly reported campaign funds."

The GAO report on the Republicans, which was sent to the Justice Department, resulted from inquiries into alleged ties between GOP campaign money and the break-in and attempted bugging of the Democratic party headquarters in Washington last June.

State Conservatives Will Support Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon will have the Conservative as well as Republican party line on the New York State ballot as the result of a precedent-breaking decision by the state Republican party.

The Republican State Committee chose 41 presidential electors Wednesday and voted to endorse them. The Conservatives later voted, as expected, to adopt the GOP slate.

It was the first time the Republicans had approved the alliance. Leaders of both parties said Nixon had asked for a alignment.

joint slate of electors in New York State.

The move could give the president 400,000 to 500,000 more votes in the state, Conservative leaders estimated.

Four years ago, after the Republicans turned down a Conservative bid for a joint slate, Nixon lost the state to Hubert H. Humphrey a 317,000 vote margin.

Sen. George McGovern is running for President on both the Democratic and liberal party lines, a more traditional compromise Conservative party principles.

The Conservative State Committee met in Tarrytown, N.Y., Wednesday night and gave 156 votes to the Nixon-Agnew slate.

John Schmitz and Thomas Jefferson Anderson, the American party candidates, received 38 votes. There were 29 abstentions.

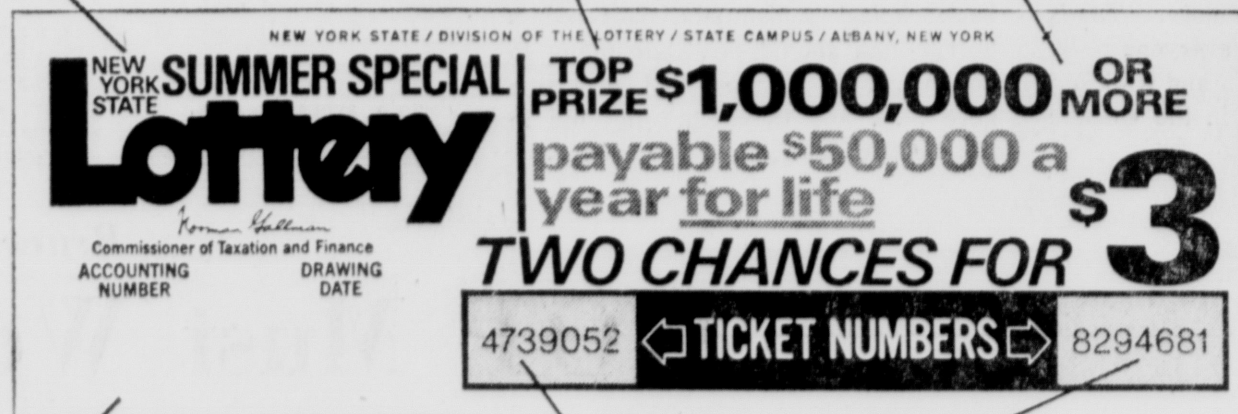

The move was favored by state Conservative chairman Daniel Mahoney and vice chairman Kieran O'Dougherty, who helped override some sentiment that a Nixon endorsement could compromise Conservative party principles.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 31, 1972

WASHINGTON—The Justice Department must soon decide whether to investigate alleged criminal violations in the election of Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., who has immense power over the department because of his tight hold on its purse strings.

The cantankerous Rooney heads the House Appropriations subcommittee, which decides how much money the Justice Department can spend. Thus, Attorney General Richard Kleindienst will face the dilemma of subpoenaing the hand that feeds him.

The election case grows out of the bitter Democratic primary, which Rooney won by a disputed 890 votes. The loser, ex-Rep. Allard Lowenstein, has been calling for a new election.

He has pressed his case in the state courts. But now he is going into federal court with allegations against the Rooney machine that would make a Tammany Hall wardheeler blush.

For example, Rooney's nephew James and James's wife Beatrice are both shown on voting records as voting twice. When we reached them at their home across the street from their famous uncle, they insisted they had voted only once. If a second vote was cast in their name, they said, it was not done by them.

"There has been a foul-up somewhere," said James Rooney, a florist.

We also have copies of an official-looking postcard with "Primary Election Notice" printed on it. But on the back is an advertisement for Rooney's slate. The bulk rate Post Office permit was issued not to the Board of Elections, the seeming source of the card, but to the pro-Rooney Pioneer Regular Democratic Club of Brooklyn.

Federal Violation

Political ads with no reference to their sponsor violate the federal criminal code.

We have also learned that New York Board of Elections

Commissioner Gomersindo Martinez, whose job it is to keep elections fair, boomed Rooney from a sound truck a few days before the primary.

He assured us this wouldn't interfere with his impartiality in dealing with the election. He had campaigned for Rooney on his own time, Martinez explained, because his wife ran as a committeewoman on the Rooney ticket.

We also have affidavits telling how supposedly neutral poll inspectors were assigned by the Rooney machine. Rooney himself, according to testimony, belabored Lowenstein poll workers twice when he visited a polling place.

When Lowenstein levers were broken in Puerto Rican and black areas where Lowenstein was strong, there's evidence they weren't fixed for long periods. Lowenstein plans to charge racial discrimination in his federal suit.

In one Lowenstein area, Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., was conducting a get-out-the-vote campaign. He swears the lines were so slow that some 40 voters simply left.

A special deputy attorney general for New York has sworn that one Spanish-speaking woman arrived at the polls only to find that someone had forged her name on her voting card.

There's no reason to believe Rooney was personally aware of all that his supporters were doing at the polls. But it will be interesting to see what the Justice Department does about the allegations.

Footnote: A finding of fraudulent election would mean Rooney must run again. Rooney could not be reached for comment.

Stan's Friends

President Nixon's chief money raiser, Maurice Stans, has accused Democratic Congressmen of pressuring the General Accounting Office to rush the release of a controversial report charging the Republicans with election law violations.

Our own investigation indicates that the real pressure came from Stans, himself, who pulled strings to delay publication of the GAO audit temporarily.

The report had been scheduled for release on the day President Nixon was renominated. Stans apparently didn't want the President's triumph spoiled by an embarrassing report. Taking advantage of the friendship of two key GAO officials, Stans personally intervened to hold up the release.

He telephoned Comptroller General Elmer Staats and GAO elections chief Phil Hughes to ask them to hold off. Both men had worked under Stans when he ran the Bureau of the Budget for the late President Eisenhower.

Indeed, Stans gave both of them promotions. Staats became Stans' deputy director and Hughes was promoted to be deputy legislative chief. Stans also served in the late 1960s on a personal consultant panel for Staats.

In talking to Staats and Hughes a week ago Tuesday, Stans said he had additional information and asked them to delay the report to include it.

Actually, Stans had been questioned by GAO investigators on several earlier occasions. But his last-minute tactics worked and the embarrassing audit was held up for four days.

After the GAO report belatedly hit the headlines, Stans charged that it had been rushed into print as a result of pressure from Democratic congressmen. But Stans' office wouldn't name any of the Democratic congressmen nor provide us with any details. Stans himself refused to talk to us.

Footnote: The GAO report charged the Republicans with 11 possible or apparent violations of the new campaign reporting law, involving a total of $350,000 in campaign contributions.

A Dilemma for Attorney General

"Well, How About Another Half a Bowl, Then?"

David Lawrence Says

Bombing Critics Forget

WASHINGTON—It's strange how often the critics of the bombing of North Vietnam by the United States forget what prompted it. Ramsey Clark, a former attorney general, in a recent article, lamented what this country has done by its air attacks on various targets north of the demilitarized zone. But he never mentioned the invasion of South Vietnam early this year which caused the United States to take retaliatory action.

A visit to South Vietnam will show the disastrous effects of North Vietnam's massive offensives, in which thousands of civilians have been killed and their lands devastated. The suffering of the South Vietnamese people has gotten virtually no attention. Yet the casualties are large and the destruction has been heavy.

President Nixon, on learning of the damage being done by the invaders, felt there was no alternative but to bomb their bases and supply lines and seal off the ports. This has proved a strategic success. Naturally, when Ramsey Clark visited certain areas in North Vietnam, he found plenty of damage, but nothing comparable to what he would have discovered if he had decided also to make a tour of places in South Vietnam under attack by the North Vietnamese.

Oddly enough, most of those who criticize the President's war policies have ignored the fact that Hanoi launched a major offensive by forces equipped with modern weapons, including heavy tanks, missiles and artillery. For the immense losses that have been suffered in South Vietnam are usual only in a war between major powers. Nothing like it has ever occurred in what is regarded as a conflict of small nations. The number of civilians particularly who have lost their lives or whose homes have been wrecked and who have been driven out into the fields is something that prompted President Nixon to strike back.

To concentrate all the talk on the bombing phase of the war is to eliminate the most important factor in the Vietnam situation this year. For it was the North Vietnam invasion which caused President Nixon to use the strongest kind of military power against the north.

The President has been reducing the number of American servicemen in Vietnam. U.S. troops already are at the 37,700 level, which is below what was set for September 1. And the President announced just a couple of days ago that 12,000 more U.S. troops would be withdrawn in the next three months, saying that our troop level would be down to 27,000 by Dec. 1. This doesn't mean that the American military presence in Southeast Asia is being ended. For there is the navy, with its aircraft carriers, and the Air Force at bases outside South Vietnam. The idea is to keep a large enough "residual force" nearby in case of any emergency that may arise. But there is no intention of enlarging the war. Air power is considered essential in helping to keep North Vietnam from starting any new offensives in Indochina. Dependence hereafter is to be on a voluntary army, as President Nixon has just announced that the draft will be ended in July next year and the armed forces will be composed only of volunteers.

It is hoped that some kind of "political settlement" will be reached once a cease-fire is agreed upon at the Paris conference and four months is allowed for the negotiations between North and South Vietnam. The President of South Vietnam has agreed to resign in order that an election can be held in which all factions can participate.

The United States insists, however, that North Vietnam will not be permitted to take over South Vietnam by an imposed "coalition government." It has been made clear that the United States will stand by South Vietnam but will not interfere in any of the parleys between Hanoi and Saigon for a "political settlement." The primary issue to which the United States has given its support is the right of self-determination, which it is believed should be pledged for both North Vietnam and South Vietnam. The theory is that if this can be agreed upon, the bloodshed will end and peace will come to Indochina within the year 1973.

It is assumed that the Soviet Union and the Peoples Republic of China will back the position taken by the United States and that this will have a substantial influence on the attitude of the Hanoi government. If this happens, President Nixon's trips to Peking and Moscow will not have been in vain.

Bruce Blossat Says

GOP Must Woo the Shirtsleeves

Some influential Republicans, busy projecting, think their party could be within reach of regaining its old majority status. But they don't think a big 1972 pickup of Democratic votes by President Nixon will do much more than just get them started.

The reasoning about 1972 is this:

Though the polls show that unprecedented percentages of traditionally Democratic Jews, Catholics and ethnics may vote Republican this November, they have a very special prod. It is their gross disenchantment with many proposals and attitudes they associate with the Democratic nominee, Sen. George McGovern.

Though Republicans don't think all of the disenchantment will stay with Nixon until election day. Yet they do count on his holding enough of them to give him a far more comfortable victory than he scored in 1968.

They fear, however, that even this may be misread as elevating the Republicans to an enduring eminence.

In the judgment of one GOP realist, the value of 1972 may be only to demonstrate that solid-line Democrats can break the mold and move. The harder thing, in 1976, will be to keep them, when there will be no prod from a controversial McGovern but instead a possibly strong Democratic pull from Sen. Edward Kennedy.

What the Republicans need are new approaches and new mechanisms to capture and hold the disenchanted Democrats. The GOP saw an opportunity to cut into labor's ranks after 1968, but never capitalized. Too many Republicans seem to recoil from going where the workers are—in noisy gatherings where the sleeves are rolled up and beer is drunk by the yard.

Some party strategists are saying, to the President and others, that from now on it's got to be different—or 1972 may prove to be merely an anti-McGovern flash in the pan that will leave the Republicans in the minority cellar they've occupied for 40 years.

Realistic types are quietly proposing in top GOP and White House circles that the party waste no time in developing real access to labor and other winnable groups. This means not simply building effective contact with people long ignored, but devising programmatic appeals which will catch their eye and maybe their lasting allegiance.

The trouble with the Republicans is that they're terribly green at all this. Reaching out is not their natural posture. Their attempts at this convention to parade their widening interest in the young, the blacks and others, for instance, were pretty heavy-handed.

A joke around Miami

Beach, Fla., during the convention was that the GOP youth battalions, meeting every arriving delegation, shouting on television, stomping up and down the avenues, were the most exhausted people in Florida.

This is still largely surface stuff. You can't easily shake the idea that a super-friendly Republican has taken a course in camaraderie.

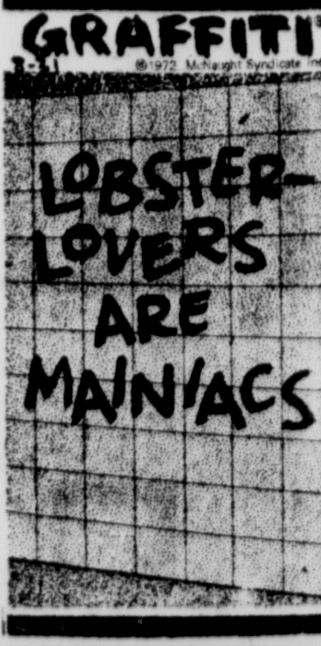

Scratch almost any Republican and he'll moan about his party's minority status. Given the need to widen out, the GOP should already be looking for the broadest based presidential candidate it can find for 1976. But don't bet on it.

In the clutch, most favor a member of the tight little club, not the party-crasher. "They like to win," says one analyst, "but they want to win with the right guy." That doesn't make it easy to get back to majority party status.

Gilman Issues Israeli Challenge

SPRING VALLEY — Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman of Middletown, Republican candidate for Congress in Ulster's new 26th District, has challenged incumbent Rep. John G. Dow to "put his votes where his flowery rhetoric is" on the Israeli issue.

Gilman reminded a Spring Valley Rotary Club luncheon that Dow on five occasions in 1971 and 1972 had voted against foreign aid authorization and appropriation measures totaling $350 million that included funds for security assistance and military credit sales to Israel.

"If Dow's votes in Congress had prevailed," Gilman charged, "Israel today would stand weakly before her aggressive neighbors."

Gilman pledged that, as a congressman, he would continue his unqualified support for Israel and in keeping Israel strong. He also emphasized the generation of peace that primary goal of the U.S. now must be to get Israel and her Arab neighbors to sit at the negotiating table.

Gilman stressed, too, that the country could help ensure a CONFER AT CONVENTION — Ulster County Republican Chairman Albert Spada is shown (L) conferring with Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman, who is the GOP candidate for Congress in Ulster County's new 26th Congressional District. They are shown on the floor of the recent Republican National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla. The Ulster County Republican Committee has unanimously endorsed Gilman for election.

Dow: 'Opponent Inaccurate'

NEWBURGH — "My opponent, Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman, is guilty of gross inaccuracies in comments he made about me recently," Congressman John G. Dow stated today. "I must correct these inaccuracies."

Dow is the Democrat and Gilman the Republican candidate for Congress in Ulster County's new 26th Congressional District.

"Gilman linked me up with 'draft evaders' in Sweden and Canada. I have no link with them, nor have I ever spoken publicly about them. Amnesty is something that should be handled later, when the Vietnam war is ended," Dow said.

"Further, Gilman made a very serious misstatement when he chose to say that I am not concerned about Vietnam veterans. On the contrary, I was the first congressman to introduce a bill to increase educational benefits for Vietnam veterans. The idea was given to me by veterans at the Orange County Community College. Shortly thereafter, Congress passed an educational benefits increase for veterans, although it was not as generous as my bill," explained Dow.

"In addition, I have made considerable personal efforts on behalf of many constituents who have asked my help in obtaining medical or educational benefits as veterans.

"Just this month, I introduced a bill to assure that older veterans would not be penalized in their pensions because of the recent twenty per cent Social Security increase," Dow concluded.

Bell Cites Student Loan Efforts

KINGSTON — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell today said efforts are being made to clear away the confusion created by recently enacted amendments to the guaranteed student loan program.

"This action means that students will be able to obtain loans under the regulations in effect prior to July 1, 1972 if $15,000 to borrow up to $1,500 the effective date is delayed to per year to meet his college cost. There is no means test favors this delay in other than the determination of the federal regulations."

Essentially these regulations permit a student whose family's adjusted income is less than $15,000 to borrow up to $1,500 the effective date is delayed to per year to meet his college cost. There is no means test favors this delay in other than the determination of the federal regulations."

Hinchey Scores State Operation

SAUGERTIES — Maurice Hinchey, Democratic candidate for the New York State Assembly from the 101st District which includes all of Ulster County except the towns of Esopus, Marlboro and Lloyd declared that the state should be operated as efficiently as private business and indicated that over-optimism concerning estimated revenues and the failure of state government to plan adequately and project its needs have been the key factors in bringing about the present state fiscal crisis.

Hinchey, who is a Senior Administrative Analyst for the State Department of Education, noted that too many legislators and administrators react negatively when confronted with a difficult problem. "They are too quick to cite existing complexities in government procedures which they contend make adoption of efficiencies a slow process," Hinchey said.

"My experience in government has seen that efficiencies can often be realized through elimination of overlapping programs and duplication of effort. The critical factor is that administrators and other decision makers must take a problem solving approach to the difficult situations they face. In part, it has been the failure of high level government officials to act in this way that has caused the state, with a budget that approaches $8 billion, to face a 1972-73 deficit of nearly $1.5 billion.

"There are at least two other factors which have brought us to our present fiscal dilemma. For the last two years we have faced a situation unique in our economic history, a deep recession concurrent with continued inflation. Secondly, the Rockefeller Administration has failed miserably to live up to its promise of 'pay as you go' government. Instead they have turned to the overly convenient sale of state bonds, which have plunged the state further in debt while enriching Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan and other large banks in the state.

Plants, 'Grass' Seized By Police Raiders

MODENA 44-55 and seized a large quantity of alleged marijuana plants and processed "grass" during a raid on Wednesday night slooped down on a residence on Route 100, occupied by the property, Jeffrey Ira Turkel, 29, of this community, was taken into custody and charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs third degree, illegal possession of a firearm — a .22 caliber automatic pistol, and growing marijuana plants without a permit.

50-Cent Lottery Winner

If your lottery ticket number corresponds with the one listed above, you can win one of the following cash prizes. The top prize of $50,000 will be awarded to the holder of the six-digit number on the ticket. All other prizes will be based on the digits on the same ticket. There will be nine second prizes of $5,000 each based on the last five digits; 90 third prizes of $500 each based on the last four digits and 900 fourth place prizes of $50 each based on the last three digits.

There are 10,000 prizes offered weekly for each series of one million, 50-cent tickets sold. Drawings are held each Thursday.

According to police, the raiding party confiscated more than 130 alleged marijuana plants that ranged between one and eight feet tall in addition to a considerable amount of alleged marijuana that had been processed and ready for use.

The arrest was made by Town Police and Senior BCI Investigators Michael Lisman and Joseph Valicenti and Investigator James A. Fitzgerald of the Hurley Zone Headquarters of State Police.

Turkel was arraigned in Town Justice's Court. He pleaded innocent to two counts of possessing dangerous drugs third degree — felonies, possessing the firearm and growing the marijuana plants. In lieu of $5,000 bail he was committed to the Ulster County Jail pending a further court appearance.

Hurley State Police also reported another case involving drugs. Trooper R. O. Reiseberg arrested Bennett Keith Schaeufele, 35, of 19 Maverick Road, Woodstock, Wednesday on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree — marijuana.

Correct Prices

An advertisement in Wednesday's Daily Freeman listing sale prices for tires at Montgomery Ward included several incorrect prices. The correct prices are: C78-14, 6.50-13, Reg. Price $35 each, sale price $26.35 each; E78-14, 7.35-14, reg. price $37 each, sale price $27.75 each; F78-14, 7.15-14, reg. price $39 each, sale price $29.25 each; G78-14, 8.25-14, reg. price $42 each, sale price $31.50 each and G78-15, 8.15-8.25-15, reg. price $43 each, sale price $32.25 each.

Trooper Reiseberg arraigned the defendant before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly. Schaeufele pleaded guilty to all counts, police said. He was fined $200, which he paid. The arrest followed a complaint of a disturbance at the Maverick Road residence, it was reported. Meanwhile, Woodstock police reported the arrest of a man on charges of criminal trespass and criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree.

Police Chief William E. Waterous said that he and Officer Charles Wolven took Dennis Gaudette, 25, of Woodstock in custody last night after the man was found sleeping in the unoccupied Longyear house in that community. Gaudette was arraigned before Town Justice Kevin M. Sweeney. He pleaded innocent and hearing was adjourned until Friday.

In lieu of $300 bail, Gaudette was committed to the county jail. Chief Waterous said the defendant had a quantity of marijuana in his possession when arrested.

Memoriam
In loving memory of Christopher W. Nagy on his birthday August 31.
We cannot hold his little hand,
Or hear his little voice,
Still his memory lingers on.
MOMMY AND DADDY,
BROTHERS AND SISTERS,
GRANDPARENTS

In Memoriam
In loving memory of my wife and our mother, Betty Chick, who passed away Aug. 31, 1968. God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills too steep to climb,
He gently closed your weary eyes.
And whispered "Peace Be Thine."
We often sit and think of you,
And think of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye.
Before you closed your eyes,
But only those who love can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
May the pleasures you missed in life's best
Be found for you in God's garden of rest.

Kingston Indians Win Top Prize

KINGSTON Utilizing high scores from a crack drum line, the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps clinched a busy week with a first place Sunday in a contest at Wayne, N.J.

The Indians hit their season high in the Wayne Monarchs Contest, taking high points in marching and maneuvering, drums, and general effects, and a second place in horns to win over the Troy Spiegelaars, the Cranford, N.J. Patriots, Oceanians, and Huntington, Long Island, Knights.

On Saturday the Indians finished third behind the New York City Warriors and the St. George Olympians in the Oxford Explorers Contest in Seymour, Conn. The same order of finish prevailed at the Poughkeepsie Vagabonds Contest earlier in the week, with the Warriors, Olympians, and Indians taking the first three places, although the three drum judges all scored the Indian drum line in first place by a full point. Preparing for three appearances over the Labor Day weekend, the Indians scheduled practices for four days this week, ending Friday. They will compete in the Greater New York Circuit Championship Contest in Bridgeport, Conn., on Saturday, in a contest in Revere, Mass., on Sunday, and in a contest in Marlborough, Mass. on Labor Day. Tickets are available from John Modjeska, the Indians' business manager.

New York Hospitals Operate on OIL

A modern hospital uses hundreds of things that come from oil: surgeon's gloves and gowns, plastic tubes and syringes, x-ray film, bed sheets, and even the paint on the walls.

But most of all, hospitals use energy. In the operating room, the intensive care ward . . . wherever patients are treated.

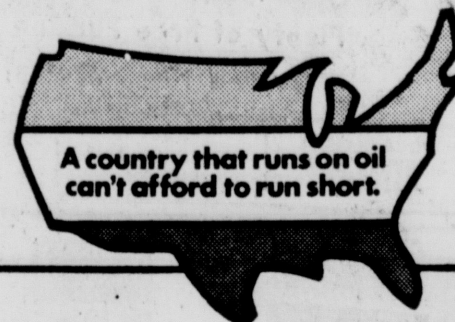

75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity).

But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap.

We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it's as sure as a surgeon's hands . . . a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

Union Center Day Slated, Family Activities Planned

ULSTER PARK The 9th annual Union Center Day will be held at Fire Station No. 2, Union Center Road, Ulster Park Labor Day, Sept. 4. Starting at 2 p.m., celebration activities will offer something for the whole family, according to chairman, Mrs. Robert Berger.

Special features will include a costume contest, pony rides, games for all ages, and an assortment of foods to be served all day long.

Sponsored by the Union Center Civic Group for the purpose of providing members of the community the opportunity to greet their neighbors, the annual event also gives the youth of the area a share in assuming the responsibilities of citizenship. The Junior Grange will have an exhibit of their craft work and activities, while the Union Center Teen Association will be manning some special booths.

In addition to the usual games and booths for children, plant table, plush booth, and a table of trash and treasure items, some surprises are in store, according to William Daum, president of the Civic Group. The public may attend.

Congress Looks for 'Safe Way'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years after a national panel sounded an alarm, Congress is still looking for the best way to help rescue millions of Americans endangered by unsafe consumer products in their homes and schools.

While the concept of new federal protection for consumers is winning increasing support on Capitol Hill in light of a 1970 report by the congressionally created National Commission on Product Safety, a dispute continues over major organizational aspects.

Experts estimate 20 million Americans a year are injured by products in or around their homes and schools, with 30,000 deaths and 110,000 persons being permanently disabled. The annual cost to the economy is figured at more than $1 billion.

"Despite the public's widely held assumption that the federal government exercises broad authority in the interest of their safety," says Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, "existing federal authority to curb hazards in a majority of consumer products is virtually nonexistent."

The national commission reported that in agencies which have some powers now, regulation is "burdened by unnecessary procedural obstacles, circumscribed investigative powers, inadequate and ill-fitting sanctions, bureaucratic lassitude, timid administration, bargain-basement budgets, distorted priorities and misdirected technical resources."

Thus, the Staggers committee has responded with a bill, due to reach the House for action soon, creating a new independent regulatory commission with broad power to prevent or reduce product-related deaths and injuries. This would include setting mandatory safety standards and banning products from the marketplace.

But the Nixon administration is pressing for its own bill, vesting product-safety authority under the Food and Drug Administration within the Health, Education and Welfare Department. The President's proposal was turned down by the Staggers committee, but Republicans plan a floor fight on the issue.

The 1970 study commission's report recommended the independent approach, and the Staggers committee agreed. Such an agency, Staggers said, would do the job

"with the cold neutrality that the public has a right to expect."

The legislation would cover "any article which is produced or distributed for sale to or for the use, consumption or enjoyment of a consumer in or around a household or residence, a school, in recreation or otherwise."

Specifically excluded from this definition are food, cosmetics, motor vehicles, tobacco, pesticides, weapons and ammunition.

Teachers Earn Recognition

Mrs. Maude Corregan, Mrs. Elsie Etienne and Mrs. Elizabeth Horvath have been selected as Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America for 1972. Mrs. Corregan and Mrs. Etienne have recently retired from West Hurley Elementary School and Mrs. Horvath is kindergarten teacher at the West Hurley School.

Nominated by Mrs. Ernie Levins, principal, earlier this year, these teachers were selected for this national honor on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America is an annual program honoring the men and women who have distinguished themselves by their service and leadership in the field of Elementary Education. Each year, the biographies of those honored are featured in the awards volume, Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America.

In announcing the award winners to the school, Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, director of the Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America program, cited them for their exceptional service.

"The men and women chosen for this high honor," Dr. Beers said, "have explored new paths, developed new insights, and effectively communicated their knowledge to their students and colleagues. They are the exceptional teachers."

Guidelines for selection include a teacher's talents in the classroom, civic service, and professional recognition.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

One Way to Conclude Lovers' Argument

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
1972 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Stevie and I went together for about four months, and he gave me his peace ring, which I wore all the time.

Last Friday we had a big fight, and I tried to give Stevie's peace ring back to him, but he refused to take it. I finally threw it at him.

He said he didn't want it, so I picked it up and stuck it in his pocket. That's when he SWALLOWED it!

I told my mother about it, and she said she didn't want me to ever go out with that lunatic Stevie again. Abby, I still care for him, and I'd like to go back with him, but now my mother won't let me. Now I'm sorry I told my mother anything. What should I do?

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Bide your time. Honey. Things have a way of working themselves out.

DEAR ABBY: Everybody thinks waitress work is a good deal because a girl doesn't need much education, little training, and if she's willing to work, she can rake in a lot of money. Well, I work for a place which employs about 160 waitresses, and what the customer does not know is this:

1. If a customer walks out without paying the check, the waitress has to pay it.

2. If he walks out WITH the check (all checks are numbered) it costs the waitress $10.

3. If a waitress breaks a dish, she pays for it.

4. If a waitress makes a mistake in addition (and under charges) she has to make up the difference.

5. If the waitress forgets to mark an item on the check, no excuse is acceptable, she is fired!

6. If a night girl comes on the floor and finishes serving for a day girl, the night girl loses the tip.

Now, Dear Abby, what advice have you for a weary, underpaid girl who has to support herself as a waitress?

NO UNION HERE
DEAR NO: Hustle your bustle to the nearest travel bureau, find the first plane, train, bus or dogsled out of that town, and take it!

DEAR ABBY: Naturally you won't print this, but I am going to write it anyway. Every once in a while, in your column there's a reference to a "male chauvinist pig," and of course the remark always comes from a woman.

What a laugh! Ask any service station operator or a janitor who cleans both men's and women's rest rooms who the "pigs" are. They will tell you they are the women, beyond a question of a doubt. And women will call men pigs!

NO SYMPATHY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE
DEAR NO: I didn't have to ask. I've heard it for years.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A. CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
This is a hint I would like to pass along about parties for children.

When I get ready to make the cake for the party, I make sure I have flat-bottomed ice cream cones on hand. I fill each cone half-full with the batter. Then each cone is set in a section of a muffin tin, to be baked.

After they are baked, these little cup cakes can be decorated any way you like. For a birthday, I stick one of those small candles in the cake and each child can blow out his own candle.

This makes a nice way to service the cakes as the child can eat the cone and all.

Mrs. Bieber

Dear Heloise:
There are days when my cat is completely obnoxious and will not cooperate — when he will hide under the bed, in the closet or any place where I can get him out only by crawling on my hands and knees.

I have the perfect solution for this. A can of room deodorant spray. Or a can of hair spray if it is handier. Any can that will give a satisfying "hiss" will do. A lousy spray from the can in his vicinity and the result is instant and magical. Try it.

Have the outside door open if that is where you want your cat to go, and he will streak for it.

I have often wondered what dire threats and insults emit from the can that give such dramatic results!

Doing the Right Thing

By Elizabeth L. Post
(© 1972 Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

Whether or not the controversy over the dangers of cigarette smoking has resulted in fewer smokers, it has certainly made people more conscious of cigarettes and the manners surrounding their use. It has given the non-smokers ammunition for their arguments against smoking, and it has made the smokers more determined to defend their right to the pleasure it gives them. Therefore, there is more high feeling pro and con about the habit, and, in order to keep peace between the two camps, more need for consideration and politeness on both sides.

Take today's quiz, and see if you are helping or hindering the cause of peace in the smoking war.

1. Q. When there are men in the same room, a woman should wait for one of them to light her cigarette. True—False—
A. False. Unless she is seated close to a man who would not need to move to offer her a light, she should light her own cigarette.

2. Q. In a restaurant, if there is no ash tray on the table, you may use your butter plate or saucer instead. True—False—
A. False. You should ask for an ash tray before you light your cigarette. Should you not notice that there is no ash tray, and your ash is about to fall, use the edge of a saucer or empty plate rather than the floor.

3. Q. Smokers are responsible for any damage done to a hostess' rug or furniture by a burning cigarette. True—False—
A. True. Guests should offer at once to repair or pay for any damage they do, and this applies to cigarette burns.

4. Q. It is wrong to enter an elevator with a lighted cigarette. True—False—
A. True. Not only is it dangerous if the elevator is crowded, but the smoke can be most offensive to the other passengers in the confined space.

5. Q. If you have an allergy to smoke, or a disease which is aggravated by breathing smoky air, it is polite to ask those around you not to smoke. True—False—
A. True. It is not one's place to interfere if it is simply a matter of not liking it, but if you have a physical reason, it is perfectly correct to make the request and explain why.

6. Q. When you are standing in a group and decide to have a cigarette, you must offer one to everyone in the group. True—False—
A. False. You need offer only to the people on either side of you, or closest to you.

7. Q. Cigar smokers should ask their hostess' permission to smoke at a dinner party. True—False—
A. True. It is true that the smell of cigar smoke is objectionable to many people, especially women. Therefore, if cigars are not offered to the guests, it is advisable for the men to ask if anyone minds if they smoke a cigar.

8. Q. On trains and planes, when there is no "no smoking" section, smokers should ask their seat companions if smoking will bother them. True—False—
A. True. The neighbor is obligated to say "No," unless he has a real physical reason for objecting.

Dear Mrs. Post:
What is the proper procedure when calling a person by phone at his home? I think, when the phone is answered, you should identify yourself and then ask for the person you want to speak to. Others feel that they need not identify themselves unless asked to. I would like to know if I am right or if they are?

Lucille

Dear Lucille:
The nicest way to respond to the "Hello" of the person answering your call is, "This is Mrs. Brown. Is Mrs. Jones in?" If the person you are calling answers, say "Hello, Jean, this is Molly." It is not incorrect to wait for the other person to say "who is this, please?" but giving one's name at once establishes the identity simply and saves time and possible confusion.

A Treatment in Time

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Advanced Coronary Treatment Foundation says the importance of providing early emergency treatment to reduce mortality rates resulting from "heart attacks" was underlined when former President Johnson suffered a myocardial infarction.

Credit for his recovery was attributed largely to a mobile coronary unit sent from the University of Virginia. However, there are only about a dozen cities in the nation that maintain such units.

NYSTA Coordinator: 'Attitudes Medieval'

KLEIN ADDRESSES TEACHERS
(Freeman photo by Haines)

By WADE BURKHART
NEW PALTZ
The regional coordinator for the New York State Teachers Association blasted what he called the "medieval" attitude of local school boards toward collective bargaining, at a press conference held Wednesday in New Paltz.

The press conference came at the end of a two-day Leadership Development Workshop for about 100 local teacher leaders, held on the campus of the State University College at New Paltz.

Robert G. Klein, the coordinator of the NYSTA region which services the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Westchester, Putnam and Rockland, said the boards were "operating in a way that virtually makes the Taylor Law unnecessary."

The Taylor Law governs the contract negotiations for public employees, including teachers.

What is upsetting the teachers, according to Klein, is the process of local boards following all the steps of negotiation set forth in the Taylor Law without any effort made to arrive at a contract. The boards then hold a legislative hearing, and under Taylor Law terms set the terms and conditions of employment without a contract being reached.

Locally, the New Paltz School Board has set the terms and conditions of employment for New Paltz teachers after a legislative hearing this summer. Klein said boards should go back to the bargaining table rather than impose a settlement.

According to the coordinator, there have been about 10 legislative hearings in his region, with five imposed settlements.

In Klein's view, the children suffer from an imposed settlement. He said the settlement makes the teachers unhappy, their morale is lowered, job actions and community unrest follow.

and the educational program is damaged. "If the board's want a lousy program, they should just keep on doing what they are doing," said Klein. There are several reasons why school boards are becoming more intransigent, Klein said. He thought the boards were becoming more conservative, which was partly a reflection of growing community conservatism with regard to money matters. School boards are also reluctant to give up powers in such areas as curriculum determination, said Klein.

He said school board membership was becoming a political position, more subject to local pressures. He also thought the boards were learning more about the Taylor Law, "finding new tricks to play games."

The NYSTA, Klein stated, would like to see laws passed allowing the "limited right to strike," the elimination of the legislative hearing and funding, and the removal of the two days said, would allow teacher pay for each day on strike only after all negotiating steps had been followed. Klein advocated mutual notification given, and where it would have no effect on the health and welfare of the students. The recently concluded leadership workshop at New Paltz was designed to "raise the consciousness level of the local leadership toward greater militancy and dynamism," said Klein.

Boy, 10, Critical After Bike, Car Collision

WOODSTOCK A 10-year-old Woodstock boy was critically injured shortly before 8 p.m. Wednesday when the bicycle he was riding on Wittenberg Road was involved in an accident with an automobile reportedly driven by Robert Holsapple of this township.

Police said Gerard Paturel of 29 Yerry Hill Road, Woodstock, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance of Kingston. The youth suffered a fracture of the skull, internal injuries and lacerations. He was later transferred to Albany Medical Center by the same ambulance service.

According to a report of Officers Charles Wolven and Ludwig Baumgarten, the boy reportedly rode his bicycle into the path of the Holsapple car and was hit and knocked to the pavement.

Another area accident on Wednesday occurred on Dug Hill Road near Route 28 in West Hurley. Two youths riding a motorcycle were injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance of Kingston.

State Police reported the motorcycle operated by Raymond Castaldo, 17, of 61 Hillside Avenue, Oswego, was traveling on Dug Hill Road when the operator saw a pickup truck approaching from the opposite direction. Castaldo reportedly swerved but was unable to avoid a collision. The truck, driven by Winfred Snyder of Hurley, was stopped before the vehicles collided.

Castaldo and a passenger, Francis Castaldo, 14, of Route 3, Box 335, Kingston, were taken to Benedictine Hospital. The operator sustained multiple bruises and contusions, and the younger youth received multiple contusions and abrasions, according to a report of Trooper R. M. Houst of Hurley.

Meanwhile, the sheriff's department investigated a spectacular one-vehicle accident that occurred on the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge at 1:30 a.m. today.

First Sergeant Donald

Polcastro reported a station wagon driven by Caterina Destino, 37, of 587 Lafayette Avenue, Rochester, was eastbound on Route 199 when the wheels hit a curb near the toll booth (north) and then traveled 28 feet in mid-air before it crashed into a toll booth hitting the structure six feet above the road surface.

Polcastro said the vehicle then flipped over in mid-air and continued on a distance of 58 feet before it landed on its roof. Police said a refrigerator in the rear compartment of the vehicle saved the driver and two boys from being crushed.

Injured and taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance were the driver and two passengers, Louis S. Destino, 14, and Donald Cheusello, 7, of Miami, Fla. They suffered bruises and contusions and shock. Deputy

Lobster Bake ... Sold Out

HIGH FALLS The bake, which will be held at the unit building in High Falls, helps raise revenue to support the unit's activities during the year. The volunteer organization provides emergency ambulance and first aid service for the entire town and is dependent on public contributions for support. The unit answered more than 100 emergency calls last year, officials said.

If you had planned to attend the Sept. 10 lobster bake of the Marletown First Aid Unit and you don't have tickets already, forget it until next year.

First Aid Unit officials revealed today that the annual bake is a complete sellout, and that the best they can offer potential customers is a reminder to purchase tickets early next year.

Track and Field Events in Olympic Spotlight

FIRST MAN ACROSS — The first trackman across the finish line in the XXth Olympic Games is West Germany's Dieter-Wolfgang Buettner (R) followed by the Soviet Union's Victor Savchenko (L) in the first heat of the 400 meter hurdles event, today, at Olympic Stadium. (UPI)

MUNICH (UPI) — Sprinters from Greece and Madagascar turned in the fastest 100-meter heat times and American Dick Bruggeman ran a disappointing sixth in his 400-meter hurdles heat today to highlight the opening morning of track and field competition in the 20th Olympics.

A dozen heats were run in the 100-meters and the favorite Americans discovered they would have rugged opposition as the event wears on to the finals tomorrow afternoon.

Vassil Papageorgopoulos of Greece turned in a 10.24, the best time of the morning in the heats which were run in wind varying from two miles an hour at the back of the runners to two miles an hour in their faces.

Jean Louis Ravelomanantsoa of Madagascar ran in the same heat as the Greek and finished a close second in 10.29.

Americans Bob Taylor of Houston, Tex., and Ed Hart of Pittsburg, Calif., could manage only 10.32 and 10.47 respectively, although neither appeared to extend themselves in their heats. The third American in the 100, Ray Robinson of Lakeland, Fla., also won his heat in 10.56. While Russian Valleri Boroz, the best sprinter to ever come from the Soviet Union, ran a 10.47 to take his heat.

Five second-round heats were scheduled for the afternoon, and both the semifinals and finals were set for Friday's program.

The only other morning running event was the 400-meter hurdles in which David Hemery of Great Britain turned in the best time of 49.71.

James Seymour of Huntington Beach, Calif., led the Americans with 49.81, but Bruggeman, of Marion, Ohio, ran a disappointing sixth in his heat and failed to make the semifinals.

Bruggeman's time of 54.36 was almost six full seconds off his best time.

The track and field portion of the Games opened in mild weather under cloudless skies.

Although none of the competitors chose to extend himself in the heats, world record holder David Hemery of Great Britain easily captured his heat in the time of 49.71. Hemery's world mark is 48.1.

The first three finishers from each heat and the next fastest runner qualified for the two semi-final heats.

Following Buettner in the first heat were Victor Savchenko of the Soviet Union and Jean Pierre Coval of France. Behind Hemery in the second heat came Gary Knoke of Australia and Yuri Zorin of the Soviet Union.

The third heat was taken by Christian Rudolf of East Germany in 50.00 followed by Ralph Mannof Provo, Utah, and Rainer Schubert of West Germany. John Akii-Bua of Uganda ran a 50.35 to win the fourth heat. Beating Stavros Tziortzis of Greece and Ivan Danis of Czechoslovakia.

A big disappointment in the fourth heat was the failure of Richard Bruggeman of Marion, Ohio to make it into the semifinals. Bruggeman has run as low as 48.6, but looked bad in running a 54.36 to finish only sixth in his heat.

The last heat was captured by Evgeni Gavrilenko of the Soviet Union in 49.73. James Seymour of Huntington Beach, Calif., ran second in that heat, followed by Rolf Ziegler of West Germany.

The 16th position in the semifinals went to Tadeusz Kulczyk of Poland who got fourth place in the first heat.

When the first day's action began the Olympic stadium was only about two-thirds full but by the time the dozen heats of

Stadium Fence Bugs Sparky

NEW YORK (AP) — Sparky Lyle was never affected by the left field wall in Boston's Fenway Park that devoured a succession of lefthanded pitchers. But the right field fence that isn't there in Yankee Stadium is starting to bug him.

"This park is worse than Fenway," Lyle complained Wednesday night after he tied the New York Yankees' club record of 29 saves by protecting Rob Gardner's 3-1 victory over the Texas Rangers. "I'd much rather pitch in Fenway. I never worried about the wall there."

What irked Lyle was a shot that Tom Grieve, a right-handed hitter, drilled toward the friendly right field stands in the eighth inning. Johnny Callison reached over the low barrier to rob Grieve of a game-tying two-run homer.

On July 28, Boston's Bob Montgomery popped a three-run homer into the right field seats to beat Lyle and Kansas City's Lou Piniella tagged him for a similar three-run shot last Sunday in a game the Yankees rallied to win. Both bat from the right side.

"I told (Manager) Ralph Houk to move the fence back," Lyle snorted. "It gets a little closer every time I pitch."

"I'd made up my mind that I would never let another right-handed hitter hit the ball in those seats. Grieve is a dead bull hitter, so you have to pitch him outside. He swung late at a fast ball and he damn near got it in." Lyle, acquired from Boston during spring training in a trade for Danny Cater, equaled the 29 saves posted by Lindy McDaniel in 1970 and Luis Arroyo in 1961.

"I don't pay any attention to records," he insisted. "Each game is separate. I'm only concerned with doing my job. I leave the game in the clubhouse win or lose."

Lyle came on after Rob Gardner held the Rangers to seven singles for seven and one-third innings and lowered his earned run average for eight starting assignments to 1.21. Gardner also singled the first run across off Jim Panther with two out in the second inning after Callison led off with a double.

The Yankees made it 2-0 in the third when Thurman Munson singled and Roy White doubled and scored a run off Pete Broberg in the fifth inning on a hit batsman, an error and two fly balls.

Texas finally broke through Gardner in the seventh on singles by Grieve, Joe Lovitto and Marty Martinez and Dave Nelson's infield out.

Despite the triumph, the Yankees remained in fourth place in the tightening American League East chase. But they are only one percentage point behind third-place Boston and two games in back of Baltimore and Detroit, which are tied for first.

Ferraro Back After Injury

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON — Mike Ferraro was back in action last night as the Kansas City Royals beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 6-2. The Brewers' third baseman had been forced to sit out three games after being hit by a line drive in Saturday's game against Chicago.

Ferraro had moved in to cover a bunt situation when a White Sox hitter smashed one down the line in the eighth inning of the first game of a doubleheader. The blow struck the Kingston infielder just below the left knee, and though he finished the game which went 13 innings he was unable to play in the nightcap.

"He took a pretty good shot," reported Curt Rayer, the Brewers' trainer. "We had precautionary X-rays taken, but it's just a good bruise. It won't keep him out of the lineup."

Ferraro went hitless in Saturday's game but came back with one-for-four last night. Only Ken McMullen of California, Rico Petrocelli of Boston, and Greg Nettles of Cleveland carry higher batting averages. Mike is batting .246.

A base hit anemia has gripped third basemen like Bailey. That would rank him ahead of five American League regulars. The senior loop regulars have a combined RBI total through the weekend of 569, while their AL Cousins have chased in 421 runs. The National's home run edge is 145-75.

Better pitching in the American League maybe? Some people think so. There are seven more pitchers with sub 3.00 ERA's in the AL to back them up. Another factor cited is the imbalance of stadiums with artificial turf. The National League has a big edge here, and the critics claim the hits go through the holes faster on blown grass.

Milwaukee, far back in the pennant race, will still have a clearer. The lowest BA for a National League third baseman is .235 by the Expos' Bob Bailey. That would rank him ahead of five American League regulars. The senior loop regulars have a combined RBI total through the weekend of 569, while their AL Cousins have chased in 421 runs. The National's home run edge is 145-75.

Silence Hurts Birds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitcher Pat Dobson wasn't talking. And Manager Earl Weaver wasn't asking.

Their silence wasn't golden for the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

"He didn't tell me that his arm had tightened up and I didn't think of asking him," said Weaver after his pitcher came back after a rain delay and was hit hard while losing a 7-1 decision to the Minnesota Twins.

Dobson looked like two different pitchers against the Twins—pitching shutout ball before the 34-minute rain delay interrupted the seventh inning, and then getting whacked as the home team scored all its runs.

"Dobson looked like he was still throwing good after the rain delay," said Minnesota second baseman Rod Carew.

But I guess he gave us some pitches that we didn't let him get away with."

Dobson got two outs, but couldn't get the last one—giving up four singles and two runs before leaving the game.

Minnesota starter Bert Blyleven had better luck after the rain delay ("It made my leg stiff, instead of my arm," he said) and managed to complete the game with a seven-hitter.

Despite losing, the Orioles stayed tied for first place in the American League East with Detroit because the Tigers also lost a 4-1 decision to the California Angels.

The Oakland A's improved their margin in the West to 1½ games. They beat the Cleveland Indians 2-0 while the second-place Chicago White Sox lost to the Boston Red Sox 4-2.

The New York Yankees trimmed the Texas Rangers 3-1 and the Kansas City Royals turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2 in Wednesday's other American League games.

Andy Messersmith stopped

Detroit on three hits and Vada Pinson knocked in two runs to power California over the Tigers. Messersmith struck out nine batters as he posted the fifth straight complete game by a member of the Angel staff, a club record.

Messersmith held the Tigers hitless until two were out in the sixth inning, when Dick McAuliffe broke the spell with a line single to center. The loser was Chuck Seelbach.

Mike Epstein's 22nd home run of the seventh inning started Oakland to victory over Cleveland. Epstein's 375-foot blast to right helped John "Blue Moon" Odom boost his record to 12-4 with relief help from Darold Knowles.

Pitcher Wilbur Wood misplayed a high chopper for an error in the sixth inning that let in Boston's go-ahead run and helped the Red Sox win the rubber game of their three-game series with Chicago.

The Ties Come First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Records are made to be broken, but for the time being Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente and Cincinnati's Pete Rose will have to settle for ties.

Clemente singled twice in the Pirates' 11-0 romp over San Diego Wednesday night and tied Honus Wagner's club mark of 2,970 career hits.

Rose managed one single in the Reds' 4-2 triumph over the New York Mets and matched Vada Pinson's Cincinnati record of 1,881 hits.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston downed Philadelphia 5-3, the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 9-8 on Jim Hickman's 11th-inning home run, San Francisco nipped St. Louis 3-2 and Montreal shaded Atlanta 3-2.

"I don't worry about records," Clemente said. "All my life I just play the game the best I can. I didn't even know I was close to Wagner. The people who keep the statistics never tell me anything."

The people in the stands at Three Rivers Stadium told Clemente something when they gave him a standing ovation.

"Everybody started cheering," Clemente said, "but I didn't know why. I didn't know what was going on until I looked at the scoreboard and saw the message. When I singled in the first inning, the second base umpire (Ed Sudol) told me, 'If you get another base hit it looks like I'll have to give you the ball.' I wondered what he was talking about."

In addition to Clemente's two singles, Dave Cash hit a three-run homer, Willie Stargell slammed a solo homer and Manny Sanguillen drove in three runs with a pair of singles. Bruce Kison blanked the Padres on six hits.

Cincinnati's Rose also received a standing ovation, but said he wasn't aware of it.

"Did they stand up for me?" he asked. "I didn't realize it. I just saw my family standing and I thought someone was standing in front of them. My son (Pete Jr., age 2½) told me 'I'd get the record tonight.'"

The Mets took a 2-1 lead on Dave Marshall's seventh-inning homer but the Reds rallied for three in their half on singles by Tony Perez, Denis Menke and Hal McRae and Joe Haguer's two-run double.

Philadelphia's 21 game winner Steve Carlton held Houston hitless until Tommy Helms' fifth-inning single touched off a two-run rally. Helms scored on Larry Howard's double and Howard tallied on Roger Metzger's infield chopper. Bob Watson singled another run across in the sixth before Carlton left for a pinch hitter.

Chicago's Hickman socked his game-winning homer on a 3-2 pitch from Los Angeles relief ace Jim Brewer. The Cubs wiped out a 6-1 deficit in the third inning, which included two of the four wild pitches uncorked by Dodger hurlers. Jose Cardenal also homered for Chicago.

Skins-Dolphins Open NFL Slate

By United Press International
The National Football League opens another long "weekend" of exhibition games tonight when Coach George Allen and his Washington Redskins "Over the Hill Gang" host the Miami Dolphins.

The NFL is featuring another five-day weekend which won't end until Labor Day night when Houston is at Minnesota. On Friday night, the Baltimore Colts—minus injured Bubba Smith—will meet the Detroit Lions at Tampa, Fla. in a nationally televised contest.

There will be seven games on Saturday including a nationally televised night game in Kansas City where the Chiefs will host the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys. The New York Giants face the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton, N.J., and the New York Jets will meet the Atlanta Falcons at Georgia Tech's home—Grant Field—in Atlanta. In Saturday night games besides the Kansas City-Dallas game, St. Louis is at Green Bay, Los Angeles is at San Diego, New England is at Denver and New Orleans faces Pittsburgh at Memphis. On Sunday afternoon, Buffalo is at Chicago, Cincinnati faces Cleveland at Columbus and Oakland is at San Francisco. Then the Houston Minnesota battle on Monday night will wrap up the fourth weekend of exhibition action.

Dallas and Oakland are the only unbeaten teams at this stage of the exhibition schedule. After one more weekend of practice games, the teams will start playing the games that count in the standings on Sept. 17. The schedule this weekend is dotted with such "traditional rivalries" as Cincinnati-Cleveland, Dallas-Kansas City and Oakland-San Francisco. But to former all-pro Deacon Jones, the big one is Los Angeles-San Diego.

All the NFL squads are now down to 49 players and the teams will have to cut five more players next Tuesday before getting down to the regular season roster of 40 the following week.

WHA Denies Colombo Link

WINNIPEG (AP) — Principals of the fledgling World Hockey Association have vehemently denied that Joseph Colombo Jr., president of the American-Italian League, has any financial interest in the new league.

In a telephone interview from Los Angeles, league President Gary Davidson said Wednesday, "We have no record of Mr. Colombo having any interest in any WHA team. He has no interest whatsoever in the Winnipeg Jets."

Ben Haskin of Winnipeg, the affair might be a Concerto, son of Joseph Colombo Sr., who has been named by the U.S. Justice Department as head of a Brooklyn, N.Y., Mafia family, has purchased a home in Winnipeg. He said Wednesday he has substantial financial interest in the new 12-team league, with most of his investments in U.S. teams.

Davidson said nothing showed Colombo's name has come to the WHA office, and any ownership change or purchase must be approved by the office. The WHA president suggested the affair might be a conspiracy prompted by the rival National Hockey League, "to know him. It's the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of."

THE RUSSIANS ARE HERE — A weary group of players of the Soviet National Hockey Team grab several minutes rest aboard a bus at Montreal's Dorval International Airport Wednesday before being driven to a downtown hotel for a night's sleep after a 12-hour trip from Moscow. The Russian players will meet Canada's best in an eight-game series starting Saturday at the Montreal Forum. (UPI)

New State Rule on Football Ties Mystery to Coaches

By IRA FUSELD
KINGSTON
A recently adopted New York State Public High School Athletic Association rule which would enable high school football games to go into overtime in order to break ties has been met locally by series of question marks.

Both John Stefano, president of the Ulster County Athletic League from Onteora, and Tom Brooks, Dutchess County Scholastic League President from Roy C. Ketcham, were not aware of the new rule's passage when asked their reaction to it by The Freeman this week.

And when both had been briefed, neither was very enthusiastic about the prospects for instituting the change so close to the coming season's opening kickoff.

The new rule calls for an overtime period in which each team gets a chance to advance the ball from the opposition's 40 yard line. If one team scores and the other does not, the game is over. If, after three attempts, both teams fail to score, the team which penetrated the furthest will win. And if penetration figures are even, the contest finally remains a tie.

The overtime system was tested and apparently liked on Long Island last year and it was that contingent that pushed for its adoption at the recent NYSPSAA meeting.

"They ran it with success on Long Island," noted Section Nine football chairman Chales "Woody" Witherwax of Liberty, "they presented it to the meeting, they pushed it and State officials didn't object." However, passage of the rule by the State does not mean that it automatically goes into effect. First the rule must be approved by the individual section members and then by league members.

SPL Sweep For Capri 400

Adding a makeup game to their regular schedule, Capri 400's slow pitch aggregation swept a doubleheader from Jack Macks at Block Park Wednesday night, 14-12 and 6-4.

The Jets edged Edgar 1-3-2. McCordie tamed the Jungle 10-6, and Boiceville II belted the Telephone Boozers 15-0 in other games on the card.

Five hits in the eighth frame staked Capri to a come-from-behind victory in the first game. Jack Macks took the lead in the fifth on Ray Lindhurst's grand slam and again in the top of the first extra inning on circuits by Frank Spinnenwebber and Lon McAndrew.

But John Bruck drove in George Glaser with the tying run, and singles by Joe Shabot and Dan McGrane settled the issue.

The second game was a repeat performance. Trailing 4-3, Shabot and Joe Nelepa singled in front of Gary Barnes' RBI knock, and Barnes followed everyone home on Jack Mack errors. Barnes also tossed a six-hitter to record the win.

Gary Snyder homered, doubled and singled to pace the Jets to victory. Meanwhile Bill McCord checked Edgar's on five hits and gave up only two runs.

Bill Palen tripled twice, but that didn't deter the Morticians from a win. Taking a 3-3 lead after three, McCordie's scored three more in the visitors' fifth to go well out in front. Steve Letus tripled and slapped two singles for the winners.

Boiceville rolled up 19 hits in closing out the 13-run rule on the visitors in the seventh.

Terry Grant slammed a triple for the winners and Tom Kizis recorded the shutout and gave up only five hits.

The scores:

Team	W	L	Runs	Hits	Errors
Jack Macks	201	040	32	12	14
Capri 400	140	401	04	14	16
Edgar	100	010	00	2	3
McCordie	308	080	10	11	11
The Jungle	012	010	2	6	12
Boiceville II	105	027	15	19	0
Telephone Boozers	000	000	0	0	5

Fischer Needs One Victory

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—Chess genius Bobby Fischer before his teens and dropped out of high school at 16 to devote all his time to it, got a draw in the 20th game against Russian world champion Boris Spassky Wednesday and moved within one point of the magic figure—the 12.5 points necessary to win the title.
Relaxed and smiling, Fischer called over referee Lothar Schmid after the Russian played his 54th move and offered a draw. After a slight hesitation Spassky accepted and put out his hand for the traditional handshake.

The 21st game began today with Spassky playing white and moving first. The 35-year-old Leningrad journal-ist must win at least three remaining games to retain the title he won in 1969 and which has been in Russian hands for 35 years.
The 600 fans on hand for the 20th game, which had been started Tuesday and adjourned in the 41st move until Wednesday, could hardly believe their eyes at the sight of the gay and smiling Fischer, a far cry from the temperamental and eternally protesting player of previous games.
"Yes it was very pleasant," said Schmid. "Bobby asked me if I could point out the position it would take days of careful for a repeated move because he was analyzing to see what he could not remember. I had to have done."

get my own scoresheet as his was unreadable."
After the challenger left the stage Spassky remained seated. Suddenly he picked up Fischer's king and started moving it and draw the fourth of the round on the wooden squares, remaining games to retain the title he won in 1969 and which has been in Russian hands for 35 years.
Then he picked up his thermos of coffee and walked slowly off the stage.
Most grandmasters agreed with the world champion that there was no alternative to a draw.
But U.S. grandmaster Larry Evans wasn't quite so sure. "I'm not convinced Spassky will take days of careful for a repeated move because he was analyzing to see what he could not remember. I had to have done."

Marbletown Dems To Name Candidates

STONE RIDGE—run in November's elections for the post of town councilman to replace Edwin B. Shumate who resigned recently from the Marbletown Board after moving from the state.
La Fera noted that nominations will be accepted from the floor at the caucus.
The person nominated tonight will be opposing Ronald Roosa of Lyonsville in the fall election. Roosa was chosen to run on the Republican ticket at a caucus Tuesday night.
Town supervisor Kenneth D. Smith, Republican, has previously indicated that Roosa will probably be appointed by the town board to fill the vacant post until the end of this year.

Fire Officials Check Blaze

KINGSTON—A fire that officials called "incendiary" in origin damaged timbers in the basement of the Central Broadway office of the Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association Wednesday afternoon.
Firemen under Chief Robert Maines responded to an alarm at 1:08 p.m. after an employee noticed smoke in the first floor of the three-story brick building at 632 Broadway. Firemen from Engine Two and Truck Two companies extinguished the blaze, which began in an outside window well at basement level and extended to timbers supporting the air conditioning unit.
Firemen put out the blaze with pressure hoses and in stalled smoke ejectors to clear heavy fumes in the basement and first floor areas.
Chief Maines said the fire had definitely been set. He notified Kingston police, who are conducting an investigation.
Firemen were called again at 4:11 p.m. to the Valley Casuals Shop in Kingston Plaza, where an overheated motor in an air circulator unit filled the shop with smoke. Damage was confined to the motor.

Trailways Will Retain Rosendale Bus

ROSENDALE—Adirondack Trailways, which had announced plans to eliminate the weekday 7:15 a. m. trip from Rosendale to Kingston because of reported financial losses on the route, said today that it would retain the service at least temporarily.
Traffic Director John McGarry made the announcement after conferring with Assemblyman H. Clark Bell. McGarry said that continuation of the service will depend entirely upon customer response.
He said that Rosendale and Tillson residents who have claimed that the service is required by large numbers of people will now have an opportunity to demonstrate the need by using the service more than in the past.
Gerard Defelicio, Town of Rosendale supervisor, who has been critical of the cancellation of service, said today that he is "real pleased" with the decision.

Pickets 'Hit' Restaurant

KINGSTON—A dozen pickets from Citizens for a Better Community, a New Paltz protest group, picketed Carroll's Drive-In at Broadway and East Chester Street Wednesday during the noon hour, protesting against Carroll's purchase of a site in New Paltz for a new restaurant.
The pickets, headed by Kenneth Silverman, passed out leaflets saying that a hamburger stand at the Main Street location in New Paltz "would be an eyesore to the community and cause major traffic problems."
Pickets also offered "sandwich money" to persons entering the Carroll's premises. Silverman said the money was offered to compensate patrons for additional expense if they would eat at other establishments.

Two Arrested On Check Charge

TOWN OF ULSTER—Charged with petit larceny involving welfare checks, two young women were arrested Wednesday afternoon by the sheriff's department and both later pleaded guilty before Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly.
Investigator Harold T. Bowers, who made the arrests with Identification Officer Barbara Wenzel identified the two defendants as Lorraine Marchese, 24, of Hilltop Apartments, Skyline Drive, Saugerties, and Deborah Chalmers, 17, of R.D. 2, Box 512, also Saugerties.
The older woman was accused of cashing a check issued by the County Department of Social Services after she reported the check lost or stolen. Bowers said, Deborah Chalmers was accused of reporting a check for $88.50 issued by the same department lost or stolen and later allegedly cashing the check and devoting the money for her own use.
Judge Reilly ordered both women to make full restitution and to appear in court later for sentencing.

The depot will be at the Rosendale Shopping Center between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.
Newspapers and magazines, bottles of all types and aluminum are being collected. Bottles should be washed with metal caps and rings removed. Newspapers and magazines handle best if tied securely in bundles of 25 pounds or less.

Man Charged In Slaying

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A 21-year-old East Syracuse man has been charged with murder in connection with the shooting of the night clerk of a suburban motel early Wednesday, police said.
A bartender found the body of Andrew Montanaro, 19, of Syracuse, slumped over a desk in the office of the LeMoyne Motel in the Town of Salina.
The arrest of Gary R. Hayes Wednesday climaxed a 19-hour investigation by the Onondaga County Sheriff's office and representatives of the district attorney, but neither agency would release details of the arrest or a possible motive for the crime after taking Hayes into custody.
The Onondaga County medical examiner's office said an autopsy disclosed the youth died of a ruptured heart after being struck by a small-caliber bullet.
Montanaro's father, a co-owner of the motel, and some motel guests said they spoke with the youth a few minutes before he was found dead. Other guests reported hearing "loud voices and a muffled sound" in the brief interval, Onondaga County Undersheriff Robert J. Alexander said.
He added that the cash box apparently had not been touched. Investigators said they found no signs of a struggle in the office.

Nature Craft Exhibit Set

The students of Mrs. Alice Valentine will exhibit and demonstrate nature crafts on Friday, at 22 Zandhoeck Road, Hurley, from 2 to 5 p.m. Boys and girls from 13 to 15 years of age participated in the program.
On exhibit will be medallions from a tree branch; pine cone and acorn plaques; gravestone rubbings; leaf print, books; pressed flower place mats; rock creations; and whimsical pine cone owls.
The children doing demonstrations will be Madeline Lawrence, Tammy Stingel, Elizabeth Nell, Kenneth Merritt, Judy Hill and Lynn Falatyn.
The Woodstock Library will hold its annual fair book sale rain or shine, Sept. 2, from 10 a.m. Many new books have been added to those remaining from the fair in July. An art show by local residents will accompany the sale. Persons wishing to exhibit may contact Mrs. Maurice Goldberg. Exhibition space will be allotted to individuals at 9 a.m. on the sale day.

Your Horoscope

Friday, September 1

GENERAL TENDENCIES:
The early morning finds you able to work out some problems to your satisfaction by utilizing to advantage your logical reasoning powers, but take no chances the rest of the day and evening and think out the best way to solve problems through a careful and cautious approach. Keep calm.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
You are able to persuade others to carry through with your own ideas in a.m., but after lunch it is just the opposite with bigwigs, so carry through then as they prefer. Give earnest encouragement to the one you love. Get fine results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)
You have to handle material affairs at home very carefully today and tonight. You are able to solve all the important financial matters through perseverance. Show others you are not easily thwarted in your efforts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
Some letter you receive in a.m. can serve as a guidepost for the days ahead, but after lunch you have to handle affairs without undue impatience. Don't run around socially without some definite purpose in mind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
You have to use common sense where those secret affairs are concerned in a.m., then study whatever comes up very carefully, but do not reach definite decisions yet. Bide for time with those who apply pressure on you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)
Quietly state your aims with a good friend, but do not pressure and you get the cooperation you want and need. You have to use more patience if you are to gain vital desires. Good friends are most important to you now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
Make certain you do not take any undue risks so you do not jeopardize either reputation or credit or both. Get your bills paid and stop using excuses. Plan more time for the one you love in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
A good friend can be of assistance to you in gaining the aims you have in mind. Do the studying that will lift your thinking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
A higher-up can give you the right answer to some problem you have, but think the questions over carefully tonight before acting in the morning. Keep busy at routines. Some light recreation is fine tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
If you do not have the right understanding with an important associate, now is the time to get it. You had better do something wise about that problem that is pressing. Procrastinating only makes it worse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
You want to delve right into all that work but it would be well first to check with higher-ups and co-workers so that it is done to the satisfaction of all concerned. Please an attachment by doing what is wanted of you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
If you take an associate with you, you can have the delightful time at recreations you want. First put particular effort on important work you have to do. Get that project on the road intelligently.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
If you have to go out to business, plan how to improve conditions at home, otherwise center your energies on that exclusively during day. A different approach to an old problem sees it nicely solved. Show you are a clever person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . .
he or she will be one of those almost neurotic young people who early needs the spiritual training and the gentle discipline that will mold the nature into a fine, or else your interesting son, daughter becomes the proverbial rolling stone that gathers little moss. Teach early to complete what has once been started. The profession should be one where logical thinking is the first requirement. Give sports that are healthful.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TALK: (Q.) My girl friend says that when a boy and his girl friend fight a lot that means they love each other. My boy friend and I must, because we fight every night.

But between fights we have found time for sex. One thing I worry about. Do you think guys talk about what they do with girls? I mean do you think he talks about what he does with me. I am 16.—Cheri in Virginia.

(A.) Fighting does not prove love, although some people who love each other do fight.

Engaging in sex does not prove love. Some boys and girls (some adults, too) look at sex as sort of a game. I do not look at it that way, but your boy friend may.

You wonder if he will talk. You have evidently talked—at least about your fights. If you talk, why shouldn't he?

Even if he doesn't talk, and I hope he doesn't, other people can probably put two and two together and figure out what is happening.

NO SWIM: (Q.) This girl and I were going swimming. She was going to be my guest at the country club pool. Her mother couldn't go. I said, "Why don't we just swim in your pool in the back yard?"

She said, "You are not allowed to wear clothes in my pool." What she was talking about—I have an old bathing suit that is too small and I hang out at the top so I wear a shirt over it when I go swimming.

I don't see why she has to be like that when I helped her and her mother put the pool up and have helped clean it out, too. She wants me to work on the pool but not swim in it. It wouldn't be so bad if she wasn't the only 14-year-old girl in the neighborhood. What can I do?—No Friends in North Carolina.

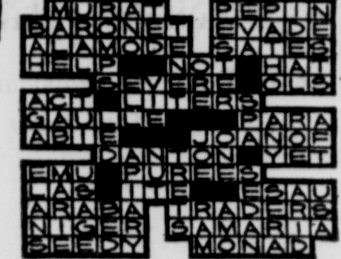

(A.) Maybe there are some 13-year-old or 15-year-old girls who can make friends with. I believe this girl is taking advantage of you.

Also, next spring when the season starts, get a swim suit that is big enough for you. One thing a teen-age girl needs very much is a swim suit that fits and that she looks good in.

Many Attractive Specials

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television watchers—from light entertainment viewers to documentary buffs to theater aficionados—should be able to get some legitimate satisfaction from the home screen in the new season if they watch selectively. Many of the announced specials seem attractive.

Admirers of Charles Schulz' "Peanuts" comic strip characters, who have become a tremendous video draw, should have a field day. On Oct. 29, CBS-TV will present a new half-hour cartoon, "You're Elected, Charlie Brown," with a political race involving a class president. On Nov. 12, NBC-TV presents "Snoopy's International al Ice Follies," the second hour-long variety-and-ice show special starring the zany dog of the "Peanuts" strip. And on Feb. 9, NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" airs a 90-minute adaptation of the award-winning New York stage musical based on the Schulz characters, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

In the documentary area, NBC-TV has a Sept. 19 hour about the 110,000 Japanese-Americans held in detention camps in America during World War II. Title: "Guilty by Reason of Race." Next Wednesday, CBS-TV airs an hour conversation with Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, with Eric Sevareid the interviewer. Title: "Mr. Justice Douglas." And on Sept. 12, NBC-TV offers an hour called "Pensions: The Broken Promise," in which the network says "victims of the private pension system will describe its failures through their own bitter experiences."

A Sunday Interview

This Sunday, NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" has an interview with the chairman of the board of General Motors, Richard C. Gerstenberg. And next week the same network's "First Tuesday" segment examines the "controversy surrounding a little-known but growing American institution—the junior ROTC (in the nation's high schools)... (an) Israeli program allowing Arabs to visit relatives in occupied Jordan... (and) why Americans are paying more for beef."

On Sept. 10, ABC-TV will present a 90-minute special entitled "A Salute to Television's 25th Anniversary," with a cast that includes Bob Hope, Lucille Ball, Sid Caesar, Jimmy Durante, Lorne Greene, Dinah Shore, Ed Sullivan, Jimmy Durante, Dave Garroway and Robert Young, and with excerpts from highly popular video shows of the past.

On the more formal theatrical side, NBC's "Herald of Truth (W) Viewpoint On Nutrition (TH) Sacred Heart (F) Today in the Central District (C)

And in a musical vein, NBC-TV on Jan. 17 will present "Cole Porter in Paris," a tribute to the late composer, with Perry Como as host and a cast including Diahann Carroll.

Tuesday night, NBC-TV offered an absorbing hour documentary, "Growing Up in Prison," about Carl Fugate, now 29, who in 1958 accompanied 19-year-old mass murderer Charles Starkweather on a series of killings that shocked the country. Her story, as well as the current reaction to her and to her rehabilitation as she looks forward to possible release from a Nebraska reformatory, was gripping.

Navy Pilots Hit Enemy Depot

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy pilots destroyed a giant ammunition depot in North Vietnam Wednesday, the U.S. Command reported today. Flies from the carrier Kitty Hawk said their bombs caused 100 secondary explosions and seven large fires at the Dong Ngan depot 13 miles northeast of Vinh.

Pilots from the carrier Oriskany hit a major fuel depot a mile west of Vinh, while other Oriskany fliers attacked a storage area 39 miles to the south. The Command said they caused five explosions and a huge fire at the fuel depot, and at the storage area destroyed more than 100 supply crates and damaged another 100.

A third target was the Cam

Pha fuel depot 37 miles north-east of Haiphong. The Command said pilots from the Midway destroyed four supply buildings there and touched off a large explosion and a fire. In South Vietnam, Communist forces rained rockets into the big air base at Bien Hoa during the night and carried out a series of hit-and-run terror and sabotage attacks at scattered points.

The Saigon command said 15 Vietnamese were killed and 51 were wounded in the attacks. One American also was wounded, and eight U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were destroyed or damaged at Bien Hoa. Two-thirds of the Vietnamese casualties were civilians.

Two Marine squadrons of A4 bombers and an Air Force squadron of A37 bombers are stationed at Bien Hoa, or 50 to 60 planes. They support ground operations in the southern half of South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Bien Hoa is also used as a forward operating base for scores of American jets based in Thailand. They refuel, rearm and receive maintenance at Bien Hoa.

It was the second time this month the base had been shelled. An 86-round rocket barrage on Aug. 1 killed one American Marine and one Vietnamese, wounded 31 Americans and 24 Vietnamese and damaged two Marine A4 jets.

The only major fighting reported was at Quang Tri, on the northern front, where a stalemate battle has been taking a heavy toll on both sides for the past two months.

The Saigon Command claimed 119 North Vietnamese troops were killed at Quang Tri Wednesday and 53 weapons were captured. It said more than 800 rounds of artillery and mortar fire hit South Vietnamese positions, and total government casualties were 12 killed and 32 wounded.

In Cambodia, a relief column suffered more than 100 casualties fighting its way into a town 50 miles south of Phnom Penh that had been under siege for a week.

Meanwhile, from Saigon, reports have five Americans were killed in action last week, three were missing and three were wounded, the U.S. Command announced today. It said it was the lowest total for any week since Jan. 1, 1963, when "statistical accounting" began.

One other American died from nonhostile causes.

The number of Americans killed in action was two higher than the previous week, but the number of wounded was the lowest in more than seven years of weekly reporting.

The South Vietnamese killed in action last week were put at 551, the wounded at 2,514 and the missing at 204.

A total of 3,342 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were claimed killed.

Withdrawal Termed 'Propaganda'

PARIS (UPI)—The Communist and naval forces in South East Asia.

The United States reply to this charge at the 157th session of the deadlocked Paris peace talks was that if the other side only would accept President Nixon's peace plan, "the shooting and fighting throughout Indochina could end this morning."

North Vietnamese negotiator

Nguyen Minh Vy, in his prepared speech at the nearly four-year-old session at the conference hall, said Nixon's

Aug. 29 news conference on troops reductions was "a noisy campaign of propaganda on a new withdrawal of 12,000 men

(which) cannot drown the explosion of American bombs."

Vy, standing in for vacationing chief negotiator Xuan Thuy said, "What Nixon is doing is not reducing troops but committing massively into the war the two most powerful services of the U.S. armed forces—the Navy and AKIR Force—and maintaining hundreds of thousands of ground troops in Vietnam."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief negotiator for the Viet Cong, told journalists before she entered the conference hall that the United States has increased its naval and air forces to 200,000 men, "more than triple since the beginning of the year."

Nixon said at his San Clemente, Calif., news conference his latest troop reduction will cut the number of U.S. forces in South Vietnam to 27,000 men.

There are about 80,000 to 83,000 American servicemen in Thailand and in ships off the Vietnamese coast engaged in the air war against the north.

The Other Day Michael Leopold

An acquaintance remarked that it is a tribute to Labor that today the percentage of working people who give any credence at all to Communism is so small as to be almost nonexistent. At the same time, he said it is inconceivable how any so-called intellectuals can subscribe to a philosophy which has been so thoroughly discredited. If Communism were such a success, as they say, they'd put up a plate glass window instead of an iron curtain and wall, wouldn't they? Is there any greater evidence of their failure? We salute all Labor and wish you a happy, safe and patriotic Labor Day!
